COMPUTER BUSINESS CONSULTANTS COMPLETES INSTALLATION AT INDERA MILLS

CLERMONT, FL (July 31, 2009) – Indera Mills, one of the country’s leading manufacturers of thermalwear products, recently selected Clermont-based Computer Business Consultants, Inc., for a complete on-site installation of their server and network upgrade at their corporate offices in Yadkinville, North Carolina.

Bobby Atwood, IT Manager for Indera Mills, was extremely impressed with the recent installation. “Our new server and network is lightening fast,” he said. “The speed of it compared to our old equipment is like night and day.”

The complex installation was flawlessly executed and includes:

- A new server with an updated Operating System.
- A migration of their SCO OpenServer applications to run on SCO OpenServer 6®, SCO’s latest Operating System.
- Complete networking of their application, with connection between two remote sites for both remote access and remote printing.
- Practical upgrades that allow each employee to connect to the main server in an instant, freeing up both space and time.
- Functional improvements to security features, creating a completely secure network environment.

“Thanks to Clinton Pownall and his team, the installation went smoothly.” said Mr. Atwood, “I have been in this business since 1967 and have never met someone as knowledgeable in their field as Clinton. This upgrade allows us to meet critical goals in shipping and receiving and proves to be a major asset to our daily operations.”

Since their incorporation in 1914, Indera Mills has been manufacturing apparel and undergarments for customers throughout the world. Currently one of the three largest suppliers of thermalwear products in the United States, Indera Mills uses an automated inventory management system to ensure the most efficient run, low-cost operation possible. The Company invests aggressively in the latest information technology to ensure that all of its customer needs are met in a timely, correct manner.
